

TS ELIOT

'In Different Voices'

An evening of readings, drama and music

Wednesday 10 April 2019, 19.00

Colyer-Fergusson Hall, Gulbenkian, University of Kent, Canterbury, CT2 7NB

Eliot College presents a stimulating evening of poetry, prose, music and drama, featuring the works of TS Eliot, Charles Dickens and Sergei Rachmaninoff, followed by drinks and canapés.

Malcolm Andrews will read from Pickwick Papers (a favourite of TS Eliot)

Sonia Copeland-Bloom will read from 'East Coker'

Dorthea Darby will read from Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats

Martin Scofield will read from The Waste Land

Theatre Ad Hoc will perform a piece from The Elder Statesman

Keith Lampard, Sophie Meikle and Jo Pearsall will perform a work by Rachmaninoff

Tickets: £6.00 (including drinks and canapés)

E: boxoffice@kent.ac.uk
www.thegulbenkian.co.uk

University of Kent

